What is a Jam:

A Jam - an award-winning IBM solution - is a collaborative, on-line brainstorming event designed to bring massive audiences together to discuss ideas surrounding important social, economic and business challenges. The National Planning Commission (NPC) -- together with IBM -- is hosting the NPC Jam from noon on Wednesday 28 September 2011 until noon on Saturday 1 October 2011 (72 hours).

Objective of the NPC Jam:

The NPC Jam is one of the important instruments that will assist us to engage with the people of SA. In particular, we are reaching out to our youth, NGOs, community based organisations, associations, government officials and academics in a national dialogue about the challenges facing South Africa, vision 2030 as well as plans to reach that vision.

Target Audience for the NPC Jam:

The first 20 000 participants (individuals or groups) to register for the event will be able to participate. Regular progress reports on registration will be provided from the IBM team. Although the primary target audience for the NPC Jam is young people between the ages of 16 and 35, South Africans above the age of 35 are also urged to register and participate

How to participate in the Jam

Participation in the Jam is open to registered participants only. Registration was officially launched on 25 August 2011 and closes on 28 September 2011.

What will be discussed during the Jam?

The Jam platform makes provision for discussion of various topics in a maximum of ten parallel discussion forums. It is proposed that topics related broadly to the 9 challenges and the vision for 2030 form the basis for the discussion.

What will happen to suggestions made during the Jam?

Suggestions and contributions posted by participants during the Jam will be analysed and used to inform the vision for 2030 and the national plan to get us there. It may also be used to inform elements of the NPC research.
